

OOPS!! Sight Word Game

Here is a fun way to help your child practice his/her sight words. Take some craft sticks and write the sight words with marker on the craft sticks in black or blue marker. Then write the word "OOPS!" in red marker on a few sticks. Place the sticks with the words at the bottom in a container. Take turns drawing the sticks and identifying the sight words. The known words are kept; the unknown words are put back. If the "OOPS!" stick is drawn, then all the sticks are returned to the container. The player with the most sticks is the winner.

Variations: Have the players make sentences with the words. Also, if your child is learning letters and sounds, then put each letter on the sticks. Have the players identify the letters, or letters and sounds.

The main thing is to have fun with your child, while practicing skills!
